To whom it concerns,

I object to any plans that would see any parts of county kilkenny ceded to any other county.

I object that any part of county Waterford would be ceded to any other county.

I attended the ferry bank local development plan public consultation held last winter: it was very obvious then that both Kilkenny and Waterford are capable of working together for the better provision of services of all people living in the borderlands of the relevant area.

I note that both councils along with Wexford county council are working in harmony with their 'Three sisters' bid, may I suggest that here lies a template for future cooperation in wider fields.

Regards etc,
